Duane T. McRuer
(October 25, 1925 - January 24, 2007)

Duane Torrance McRuer was an avid mountaineer and contributor to the Angeles Chapter of the Sierra Club, which he joined in 1962. He was instrumental in creating the Leadership Training Program that serves as the model for the entire Sierra Club and wrote and then edited several versions of the Leadership Reference Book (LRB). McRuer met the demand from the Angeles Chapter for leadership standards, certifications, and training. Duane conceived the training system, wrote much of the LRB, organized and ran many of the snow, rock, and navigation practices and checkouts and, importantly, set the whole structure off on its own power, tapping various people on the shoulder, urging their involvement, encouraging their efforts. He served as the Chair of the Sierra Peaks Section of the Club in 1976 and continued to be an active climber and mentor. He climbed all of the 297 mountains contained on the Sierra Club Sierra Peaks List by 1985, and by 1997 had visited or climbed the high point in all fifty states, save one, Mount McKinley in Alaska. He also climbed all of the 97 mountains contained on the Sierra Club's Desert Peaks list twice. Duane also completed the Hundred Peaks Section List twice, completing it the second time at age 70. He was awarded the National Sierra Club's Oliver Kehrlein Award for Outings Leadership (1997) and the Sierra Club Angeles Chapter's Lifelong Service Award (1999) among many other honors. The Hundred Peaks Section presented Duane with the John Backus Leadership Award in 1999. Duane continued to climb peaks well into his eightieth year. His energy, endurance, and knowledge of geology made him a favorite and inspirational companion to all who accompanied him on the many hiking trails and climbing routes here in California and across the United States.

From the Chair

By Dave Comerzan

Let me introduce myself. I am the new Chair of HPS for 2007. They tell me I have the easiest job. All I have to do is delegate. So they tell me. Seriously, it is with great pleasure I accept this new responsibility. Every time I look at the history of this organization, I am amazed. It has been around almost as long as I have. In today's fast-paced, multiple demands on a person's time, that's quite a feat.

2006 was a banner year for HPS. 60 emblems were awarded for the period of January 1, 2006 to January 20, 2007. 2006 will be known as the Year of the Woman. Women achieved 24 of the 60 emblems. Especially notable were Dorothy Danziger who joined that rarified air of List Finish #5 and Karen Leverich the first woman to lead the List. Congratulations to all. It stands to reason that if this many people were achieving that many emblems, we must be hiking a lot. And we were. HPS had 341 scheduled hikes in 2006. Our thanks goes out to those hard working leaders who go though the effort to schedule hikes well in advance of their dates. After all, we don't do it for the pay. Keep up the good work and let's see if we can beat those figures in 2007.

The year ended with another successful banquet. Over 100 people attended, renewing old acquaintances, and making new friends. Our Silent Auction, thanks to the generous contribution of Lynda Armbruster, raised over $1700 for the section. The following awards were given out at the banquet:

Bill T. Russell New Leader: Ignacio Doggett
John Backus Leadership: Peter Doggett
R.S. Fink Service: Tom Hill
Special Award: Special Award:
Inspiration and Encouragement: Karen Leverich
Special Award: Special Award:
Spirit of Volunteerism: Wolf Leverich

The evening ended with an excellent presentation by April Sall of the Wildlands Conservancy. Many of us have hiked on their lands, including Bear Paws, Wind Wolves, Pipes Canyon and their newest acquisition, Mission Creek, where our Spring Fling is being held this year.

My message for this year: Involvement. Hike as much as you can for that's what we are all about. Let fellow hikers know where and when you're hiking, both formally as scheduled hikes and informally via email lists, phone calls. I can only hike during the week. I maintain a list of people who can hike during the week also and send out an email every time I go hiking. If not a leader, become one. If "O" rated, become "1", if "1", become "M". Support the organization by participating in the special hikes we have such as Spring Fling (3/24, 25), Waterman (7/28), Fall Festival (10/6, 7) and our banquet next January. Finally, support the organization by giving input. All of the Mocom members have email and phone numbers. Let us know what you're thinking. And, most important, consider running for Mocom. We have a great group of people on Mocom this year. In fact with few exceptions, it is the same as last year. While I am looking forward to working with this group, and the commitment is not that great, people do get tired and any organization needs new input to survive. Shortly, we will be coming to you to ask you to run for Mocom. Think about it.

The following people were awarded certificates at our banquet. While recognition of emblem achievers takes place all year, certificates are handed out at the banquet. The time frame for this year was from January 1, 2006 to January 20, 2007. Next year and each succeeding year, we will be using from banquet date to banquet date as the time frame for awarding certificates. Those who were not at the banquet will be mailed their certificate. While every effort is made to accurate, we are only human. If you earned an emblem in the above time frame and are not mention, please let Greg de Hoogh, Membership Chair know.

Advance Schedule of Hundred Peaks Section Activities
March - October, 2007
By Karen Isacsson Lenerich

Come get high with us.

Mar 3   Sat   WTC, Hundred Peaks
I: Quail Mountain (5813'): Moderately strenuous 8-10 mile loop hike, 1800' gain, to the highest peak in Joshua Tree National Park, via Samuelson's Rocks through spectacular desert scenery. Substantial cross-country travel with some rough, rocky portions. Bring your camera (optional), 4 quarts water (mandatory), and good footwear (mandatory). Send email (preferred) or SASE, with contact info & recent conditioning to Leader: CHARLES IRVING Assistant: ASHER WAXMAN

Mar 3   Sat   WTC, Hundred Peaks, 20s & 30s
I: Sugarloaf Mountain (9952'): Snowshoe in the San Bernardino Mountains. Destination may change with snow conditions. Strenuous 10-12 miles round trip, 2700' gain. Send sase/sase, conditioning to Leader: ERIC SCHEIDEMANTLE Co-Leader: MELODY ANDERSON

Mar 4-5   Sat-Sun   Hundred Peaks
I: Mayan Peak (6108'), Butterbredt Peak (5997'), Cross Mountain (5203'), Chuckwalla Mountain (5029'): Hike these southern Sierra Peaks north of Mojave and camp in Red Rock Canyon State Park. Saturday: Mayan and Butterbredt, total 6 miles/3000' gain. Sunday: Cross and Chuckwalla, total 12 miles/4000' gain. Lots of dirt road driving. Join us for one or two days. Contact leader (e-mail preferred) for details. Leader: TED LUBESKOFF Co-leader: PAMELA ROWE

Mar 4-5   Sat-Sun   Hundred Peaks, Desert Peaks
I: The BIG Rabbit: Rabbit Peak #2 (8940'), Village Peak (5756'): Traditional, very strenuous desert backpack near the Salton Sea, 21 miles round trip, 8000' gain overall. Terrain is steep, rocky, and infested with groves of cholla, agave, and other thorny obstacles. Must carry all water for the overnight camp near Village. For trip details send recent conditioning, backpacking experience, and phone & ride/share information to Leader: TOM HILL Co-leaders: GREG de HOOGH, MARLEN MERTZ, JOHN RADALJ

Mar 6-7   Tue-Wed   Lower Peaks
I: Keys Peak (4483'), Mt. Mel (3814'), Monument Mt (4834'), Mastodon Peak (3371'): Hike these splendid Joshua Tree N.P. peaks. Tuesday Mt Mel and Keys from Indian Cove, 9 miles, 2200' round trip, on Boy Scout trail with some rugged desert cross-country, including high class 2 scrambling on both summits. Tuesday night car camp. Wednesday 6 miles, 2000' gain cross-country to Monument (high point of the Hexie range) after some dirt road driving, followed by a separate hike of 3 miles, 400' gain round trip to Mastodon, with scramble to the summit; both mins near Cottonwood entrance. Great views of the park. Email Dave for details and permission. Leaders: DAVE COMERZAN, GEORGE WYSUP

Mar 8   Thu   Lower Peaks
Annual Lower Peaks Committee Meeting: Plan to attend the Annual meeting of the Lower Peaks Committee. 7:00 PM at Knowitwood Restaurant, 150 S Harbor Blvd, Fullerton. Peak additions and deletions will be discussed. Copies of the Lower Peaks Guide will be available. For further information, contact Chair: WAYNE NORMAN

Mar 10   Sat   Hundred Peaks, New Outing, first time published
I: Iron Mountain #2 (5635'), Condor Peak (5440'), Fox Mountain (5033'): Moderate day hike in the Angeles National Forest. The total hike will be 11.5 miles round trip with 3600' of gain. Bring water, lug soles, lunch & jacket. Contact the leaders to find meeting information. Leaders: PETER & IGNACIA DOGGETT

Mar 10   Sat   Hundred Peaks
I: Cajon Walking Tour: Cleghorn Mountain (5333'), Cajon Mountain (5360+), Sugarpine Mountain (5478'), Monument Peak #2 (5290'): Downed trees usually block the roads in winter but you can join this strenuous walking tour near Cajon Pass and give your wheels a rest. First three peaks 16 miles round trip, 3300' gain, beginning with the PCT section up to Cleghorn Ridge then continuing along rocky roads through high forested ridgelines. Monument Peak (optional) adds 5.5 miles, 700' gain. For trip details send recent conditioning, phone & ride/share information to Leader. TOM HILL Co-Leaders: LILLY FUKUI, DON CW/K, CHRIS SPIASK

Mar 10   Sat   Hundred Peaks
I: Mount Lowe (5603'): 10 miles round trip, 3800' gain, moderately strenuous, good conditioning hike. We will hike up Sam Merrill trail to Echo Mountain, then Castle Canyon trail to Mount Lowe summit. Meet at the top of Lake Ave in Pasadena at 7:30 AM. Bring 10 essentials, lunch, and water. Leader: MARY JO DUNGFELDER Assistant: GEORGE WYSUP

Mar 10   Sat   Wilderness Adventures, Hundred Peaks, New Outing, first time published
O/I: Snowshoe Mt Pinos (LO) (5831'): Hopefully snow conditions will permit continuing on to Sawmill Mountain and perhaps Grouse Mountain as they sparkle in winter beauty. 8 miles round trip, 2000' gain route will be moderately paced, but strenuous, and requires good conditioning but no previous snowshoe experience. Lack of snow will change the outing to a hike. 4WD vehicles a plus. Meet 7:30 AM Synder ride share point with water, lunch, snowshoes, sturdy waterproof hiking boots, hiking poles with snow baskets, warm and waterproof clothing layers, hat, sunscreen, sunglasses. Leader: ROSEMARY CAMPBELL Co-Leaders: SOUTHERN COURTNEY, BRENT COSTELLO
Mar 10-11 Sat-Sun Hundred Peaks
I: Granite Mountain #2 (5633') , Whale Peak (5349'): Day hikes with optional overnight camp in San Diego County. Saturday: Whale, 9 miles, 2300' gain; Sunday Granite 8 miles, 3000' gain. Expect lots of brushy, slow going terrain. EMAIL/SASE with conditioning info and for meeting time/place to Wynne. Leaders: WAYNE VOLLAIRE, WYNNE BENTI

Mar 11 Sun Hundred Peaks New Outing, first time published
O: Mount Lukens (5074') & Cole Point (5604'): Moderate day hike above La Canada. The total hike will be 14 miles round trip with 3700' of gain. Bring water, lug soles, lunch, cookies (for the Leader) & jacket. Contact the Leaders to find the meeting information. Leaders: PETER & IGNACIA DOGGETT Co-Leaders: MARS BONFIRE, KATHY CHEEVER

Mar 13 Tue Hundred Peaks New Outing, first time published
O: Sawtooth Peak (5200'), Burnt Peak (5788'), Liebre Mountain (5760'): Let's visit the lovely Area 8 peaks near San Andreas fault. 10 miles, 2600' gain on firebreak and road. Extensive dirt road driving requiring AWD vehicles. Pray for no earthquakes. Apply to either leader with contact information. Co-Leaders: JENNIFER WASHINGTON, GEORGE WYSUP

Mar 17 Sat Hundred Peaks, Verdugo Hills
O: Mount Hillyer (6200'): 4 miles round trip, 1000' gain easy hike. Spring flowers could be blooming, or we can collect mistletoe. Meet 8:30 AM La Canada ride share point. Bring water, lunch, hiking boots. Rain cancels. Leaders: FRANK DOBOS, MANOOSH YEREMIAN

Mar 17 Sat Hundred Peaks
I: Round Mountain (5272'), Luna Mountain (5967'), Rattlesnake Mountain (6131'): Moderately strenuous loop tour, up to 10 miles round trip, 3000' gain in the Hesperia Backcountry east of Cajon Pass. We combine roads, trails, and desert fringe cross-country trekking for this adventure as we search for peaks to climb. Much dirt road driving, high clearance vehicles recommended. For trip details send recent conditioning, phone & ride share information to Leader: TOM HILL Co-Leaders: MARKEY & ROBERT NEIGHBORS

Mar 17 Sat Hundred Peaks
O: Mount Lukens (5074'): Join us on this St Patty's Day Hike to the highest point in the City of L.A. Hike from Deukmejian Park in La Crescenta via Crescenta View Trail and fire road. Return via Haines Canyon Trail with short car shuttle. Spring wildflowers and great views to Catalina. 9 miles round trip, 3000' gain. Well-mannered K-9's welcome. Meet 8 AM Deukmejian Park (from 210 Fwy, exit Pennsylvania Ave, N. to Foothill Blvd, L to New York, R to top of New York, L on Markridge 1 block to park entrance on right.) Bring 3 L's (Lunch, Liquids, Lug soles) and St. Patty's Day goodies to share. Leader: BOBCAT THOMPSON, JIM FLEMING

Mar 17 Sat Hundred Peaks, K-9 New Outing, first time published
I: Chuckwalla Mountain (5029'): St. Patty's Day List Finish. Bring your hiking dogs and green champagne for a nice St. Patty's Day walk up Chuckwalla near Mojave for Wynne's List finish (22 years in the making), on same-named peak as her DPS list finish. 1400' of gain, 4 miles round trip. Bring lunch, plenty of water for your dog, leash and something green to share up top. Conditioned canines ok. Email or snail mail Wynne for meeting spot. Leaders: WYNNE BENTI, JULIE RUSH

Mar 18 Sun Hundred Peaks
O: Skinner Peak (7120'): Excellent peak about 35 miles northwest of Mojave. The total hike will be about 8 miles with 1900' of gain. Bring water, lug soles, lunch & jacket. Contact leaders to find the time & place to meet. Leaders: PETER DOGGETT & IGNACIA DOGGETT

Mar 20 Tue Hundred Peaks
I: Snowshoe in the local mountains (wherever the conditions permit); Approximately 10 miles, 2500' gain. Pace will be moderate. Email Sandy the week before for instructions. Leaders: SANDY BURNSIDE, MARS BONFIRE

Mar 23 Fri Hundred Peaks New Outing, first time published
I: Mount Inspiration (5560'): Start the Spring Fling weekend right with a warm-up hike on Friday afternoon, and pick up a pathfinder while you're at it. 5 miles, 1100' gain. This will be all cross-country on a route that starts northeast of the peak. Contact Greg for meeting time and location. Leader: GREG de HOOGH Co-Leader: SANDY BURNSIDE

Mar 24-25 Sat-Sun Hundred Peaks
HPS Spring Fling Weekend at Mission Creek Preserve near Joshua Tree: Welcome in the spring with a fun and festive weekend at Mission Creek Preserve near Joshua Tree National Park. Join us for peak-bagging in the area and camping (with potluck Saturday night) at the Preserve, nearby Black Rock Canyon Campground in Joshua Tree, or motels in Yucca Valley. Send $5 free, sase or fax for information/reservations to Reservationist: JIM S. FLEMING

Mar 24 Sat Hundred Peaks
I: Chaparras Peak (5541') or Black Mountain #4 (6149'): Chaparras Peak was burned over in the Sawtooth Fire of summer 2006. If the area has reopened for hiking, we'll hike 8 miles, 1200' gain, on trail, and see the damage from the fire and the area beginning to recover. If the area is still closed, we'll instead do nearby Black Mountain #4, outside the burn perimeter. 4 miles and 1200' gain, all cross-country, in interesting desert terrain. Contact Wolf (e-mail preferred) in the weeks before the outing to learn which peak and when/where to meet. We'll finish in time for the Spring Fling potluck! Leaders: GREG de HOOGH, WOLF LEVERICH
Mar 24 Sat Hundred Peaks
I: Quail Mountain (5800') Spring Fling weekend with a fun ascent of this Joshua Tree peak. 10 miles, 1750' total gain (400' of this on return), cross-country and trail. Meet at 7:30 AM at the corner of La Contenta Road and Hwy 62 (about 2.8 miles past SR 247). We will drive about 9.4 miles on a dirt road possible for passenger vehicles. We plan on finishing in time to enjoy the outstanding potluck at Mission Creek Preserve. Rain or extreme weather conditions cancel the hike. If you have questions or concerns, please contact one of the leaders via email. Leaders: SANDY BURNSIDE, LAURA JOSEPH, SANDY SPERLING

Mar 24 Sat WTC, Hundred Peaks
I: Bernard Peak (5430'), Little Bardon Peak (5440'): Two lesser traveled HPS peaks in Joshua Tree National Park with views into the Coachella Valley. 7 miles round trip, 1800' gain, entirely cross country. AWD or 4WD vehicles preferred, due to sandy nature of road. Send email (preferred) or sase, with contact info & recent conditioning to Leaders: KIM HOMAN Co-Leader: KAREN LEVERICH

Mar 24 Sat DPS, Hundred Peaks New Outing, first time published
I: Pinto Mountain (3983'): We'll cross the Pinto Basin (perhaps if lucky, covered with spring bloom) from near Fried Liver Wash, then hike up one ridge to the summit and down another. Beautiful cactus blossoms and possible reptile sightings along the ridges of this lovely desert peak. 2400' gain, 9.5 miles round trip. Then join the Spring Fling potluck Saturday night. Leader: WYNNE BENTI Co-Leader: JULIE RUSH

Mar 24 Sat Wilderness Adventures, Hundred Peaks New Outing, first time published
O: Hermit Trail Loop: Marvel at Hermit's Castle - an abandoned abode hidden in our forest - on our 8 mile round trip, 1500' gain moderately paced hike which begins near Newcombs store on Hwy 2, takes us through Bandido and Horse Flats Campgrounds and lunch on Mount Hillyer. Meet 8:30 AM La Canada ride share point. Bring water, lunch, good footwear, layered clothing. Leaders: SOUTHERN COURTNEY, ROSEMARY CAMPBELL

Mar 25 Sun Hundred Peaks
I: Ryan Mountain (5457'), Lost Horse Mountain (5313'): Greg likes avoiding the boredom of the trails on these two, so we're doing them mostly cross-country. 8.5 miles, 2300' gain, one way with a car shuttle. Send email (preferred) or sase, with contact info & recent conditioning to Leader: GREG de HOOGH Co-Leaders: WOLF & KAREN LEVERICH

Mar 25 Sun Hundred Peaks
I: Warren Point (5103'): Finish up the weekend with a relaxing hike this delightful peak in Joshua Tree. 4 miles round trip, 1000' gain. Mostly trail, some cross country. Contact leaders for meeting time and place. Leaders: DAVE COMERZAN, LYNDA ARMBRUSTER

Mar 25 Sun Hundred Peaks
I: Queen Mountain (5680') from Indian Cove: Need an Explorer Route to Queen? How about capping off Spring Fling with this adventurous cross-country route. The hike is a strenuous but rewarding 10 mile round trip with approximately 3600' of gain for experienced desert hikers. Current Trip Report and Recent Pictures

Will Thrall Peak, Pleasant View Ridge
January 6, 2007
Leaders: Ted Lubeshkoff and Robert Myers
By the Leaders

Blustery winds on Friday the day before the hike gave way to clear skies, quite cool temps, but calm winds on Saturday. The leaders plus Joe Young met at the Sylmar rideshare point at 7:00 AM, hopped into Ted’s vehicle, and drove to Devil’s Punchbowl County Park where they were met by Terrence McCorkle, who had driven from Barstow. The vehicles were parked just outside the main gate to the park because signs indicate that the gates would be closed at sundown, and we were pretty sure that we would be returning after sundown.

We began our hike at about 8:15 AM, first walking through the park, then following signs to the Burkhart Trail. We dropped 800’ to Cruthers creek, then followed the excellent trail to Burkhart Saddle, encountering snow patches here and there. A couple of the patches within a quarter mile of the Saddle were slippery, but we gingerly traversed them without incident. We arrived at the Saddle at about noon.

After a short break we headed up the steep ridge to Will Thrall Peak, arriving at its summit at about 1:00 PM. We signed in the register and observed the plaque left by the Hundred Peaks Section in 1964. Soon we were off to Pleasant View Ridge, attaining its summit at about 1:45 PM. We observed that the bench mark said “Pallett Mountain.” This summit, too, had an excellent register. According to Terrence’s pedometer, we had traveled 8.7 miles from the vehicles.

We left the summit at about 2:00 PM, re-ascended Will Thrall Peak at about 2:30 PM, and dropped back down to the Saddle. After another quick break we left the Saddle at about 3:00 PM. The icy patches along the trail were still there but the warmer temps during the day seemed to make the patches a little softer, thus easier to cross. We took a break just beyond the creek crossing at the start of the 800’ of gain on the trail before making the connections to roads leading back to the Park. We arrived at the vehicles just past 6:00 PM, hiking the last 30 minutes in darkness.

This is a great route to Pleasant View Ridge, complete with spectacular views of the desert and distant mountain ranges, including the Tehachapis. The route also travels through high desert terrain up to beautiful pines of the peaks, plus a creek crossing and an old windmill. We did not see another hiker the entire day and had this magnificent area to ourselves.

Total statistics for the day: 17 miles, 5,000’ gain, 10 hours, 34F temperature at both the beginning and end of hike.

Edith Liu took this picture of Dorothy Danziger and Mars Bonfire on Red Mountain, crouching behind large gas bottles. Edith points out that the U. S. Government is fully capable of leaving lots of trash on our peaks! How do we remove this trash?

In Search of Shangrila and the Lost Mine of Redrock
Personal Trips
Kevin Dixon

A lost gold mine, hiking in a remote location and no luck from previous HPS'ers - sign me up! An article in an earlier issue of Outlook had me hooked. The mine was supposedly located on Red Rock mountain above a waterfall up Red Rock Canyon, north of Lake Castaic. What could be simpler, drive to the eastern end of Templin Highway, hike up Castaic Creek, take the turning up Redrock Canyon and find a bypass to the waterfall. Whilst scenic, hike one in Apr 2006 ended in dense brush deep up Redrock Canyon and a lack of time and inclination to proceed further. The highlights were a large dollop of bear scat, a few frogs and the precipitous red cliff of Redrock Mountain looming overhead.

Hike two on 30 May took me via Cienega Campground, Pianobox Prospect and Redrock mountain to 4400' on the ridge looking down into the fabled valley of Shangrila. There was barely enough time to take photos and scan potential routes before heading back for Templin Highway before dark. This was starting to become an obsession so I contacted Hugh Blanchard, who was kind enough to point me at his website, his researches into the mines and provide a map showing the mine locations from when they had last been found in 1980. Bush and poison oak were clearly a problem so I used Google Earth and my photos to assess potential routes.

Armed with this, I set out once again on 11 June for hike three. The weather was kind with overcast skies and a slight breeze, Redrock mountain was reached at 09:15am, surely this time I could not fail. Proceeding over the ridge to the highpoint of 4489, my intention was to hike down the steep ridge south west to the hidden valley of upper Redrock Canyon however there was a rock outcrop two thirds of the way down and the vegetation at the bottom looked a tangle, perhaps it would be easier to continue along the ridge west from 4489 and then drop down the gully containing the mine. After one mile of insane bush whacking and a 1000ft height loss, I was looking down above the waterfall of Shangrila but the gully down to the mine only looked possible with a rope. Desperate as I was to avoid a repeat of the bush whacking, there was no way down to find an alternative route and I had to beat retreat, foiled once again but clearly Cienega, Pianobox was the way in.

The heat of summer was to keep me away but after successfully climbing Kilimanjaro in October, I felt fit enough to tackle Redrock again. With the reduced day hours, Saturday 9 Dec would require an early start, careful attention to time and a very fast pace. Despite starting 30 minutes later, I reached Redrock summit register at 09:15am. The only registered visitors since my June trip had been George Wysup, Hugh Blanchard and a group on 15 Nov. Unlike the previous three hikes, there was hardly any water in Castaic Creek and Fish Canyon. After watching a couple of deer on the ridge, the valley floor of Shangrila was reached two hours later via the south west ridge from the 4489' peak, there was a scramble bypass to the west of the rock outcrop. It all seemed too good to be true, a short hike down the carved rock stream bed and it opened out to a wide boulder filled floor, a large rock with a broken caim of rocks atop looked very promising. A small side canyon to the right required beating my way through the brush and climbing a few small rocky falls but no mines. Time for lunch, 1:00pm was to be my absolute leave by time, the overgrown trail back to Pianobox has one or two tricky hairpins and I did not want to be thrashing around in the brush in the dark on my own. At 12:30pm, I had enough time to climb a bit higher, whereupon I could see the ridges, get my bearings and realize I was not far enough down the valley. Running as fast as I could down the canyon, back to the valley floor to find the next canyon along on the right which had a rusty tin and the remains of an old coat lying at the side - eureka! Climbing up this canyon, there was the mine entrance on the left. It took 30 minutes to GPS, photograph, explore and map the mine but now I was over my allotted departure time.

On my hike up, I had taken a few minutes to view a potential route out, knowing what was on the other side of the ridge from my previous trip, it looked feasible and potentially quicker. Given my time crunch, the gathering ominously dark clouds and the few spots of rain, I figured that it was worth the risk to pioneer a new route on the way back. Following a well worn deer trail, a good sign, up the fir tree filled valley side directly opposite the mine, I reached the ridge I had seen on my way from Redrock summit and then dropped a short distance down to a largely brush free stream bed in a relatively shallow valley, this was followed with a few brush detours to get me back to the main ridgeline and then Redrock summit register at 3:30pm. Periodic raindrops were keeping the pace frenetic. Templin Highway and my car were reached in the dark for a well earned drink and a bite to eat. Fifteen minutes later, the heavens opened and it bucketed down with rain. The end of a perfect day. Did finding a lost gold mine make me rich? Not financially, but definitely for the experience, this is a wild area with the trails falling into disrepair making it even more remote.

For those of you who like statistics, the fourth hike was 11 hours 15 minutes with a gain of 4650ft and same loss of 4650ft and a total 15miles. Photographs in glorious technicolour can be seen at http://photos.yahoo.com/kdxn in the Redrock photo album.
The Gift That Keeps On Giving
List Finish #12, White Mtn #1, 12/08/06
By: Mars Bonfire

A long time ago Weldon Heald, through the Sierra Club, gave us all a glorious gift. What is that gift? I’ve said it before and I’ll say it again: “The greatest collection of peaks and routes from Santa Barbara to San Diego there ever was or will be, the LIST of the mighty Hundred Peaks Section!” Yet the question is out there: Why do this LIST even once let alone twice, thrice, ...? I’ll attempt an answer. If you found Carlos Castaneda’s work, Journey To Ixtlan, The Lessons of Don Juan, to be the most illuminating book you had ever read — the only one to describe reality as you had experienced it — would you not read it much more than once? Of course you would! And if you found Kenwood Yulupa Cabernet Sauvignon to be the most complex, mysterious, and delectable wine you had ever drunk would you not enjoy a glass once a month or once a week or — oh hell, let’s throw caution to the wind — at least once a day and twice on Sunday? Yes! And if you felt dirt bike riding was the most exhilarating and liberating thing you had ever experienced since being run over by the family tractor, kicked in the head by the horse, or falling down the well back on the farm, wouldn’t you ride every chance you got? Indeed you would! Well then consider the incredible geographic diversity of the Hundred Peaks LIST — Santa Barbara to San Diego, Los Angeles to Lake Isabella. Consider the spread of life zones touted in the tram ride up to San Jacinto and existing, to a lesser extent, on others of our peaks. Consider the wonderful people we’ll be hiking with or meet out there. Consider the immeasurable health benefits as we breathe in fresh pine scented air and bask in primordial wilderness calm. (Broken only by the sound of those damn drunk dames on dirt bikes!) Consider all this and more and the question inverts to: Why not enjoy these irresistible places and experiences again and again and again as long as the welcome mat is out? I guess the person I have most influenced with my pro Hundred Peaks hype is ... myself! And so on 12/08/06 I enjoyed this marvelous collection of peaks and experiences for the 12th time on White Mountain #1. And I was honored and delighted that this occurred at the same moment that Karen Leverich became the first woman in HPS history to lead the LIST!!! One of the most valuable services we could render to HPS and the Sierra Club is to lead others, safely and enjoyably, into the wilds we know and love, in the hope that they too will become admirers and protectors. Karen has done this with legendary sensitivity to the needs and comfort of her group and with laudable skill in timing the event to the season and in knowing the convoluted way to difficult peaks. All so that ever more Southern Californians can experience and appreciate our mountain treasures. For they are truly the gift that keeps on giving.

Since there is not much I can add to our excellent peak guide for White Mountain #1, other than to note that the trail head is 10 miles further east, the bearing to the peak is exactly 180° off, and the round trip distance should be ... Just kidding! (Had you going though, didn’t I?) Since the hike is simple and well described, I’ll use this event to reminisce about some of the countless adventures Weldon Heald’s gift has given me on our internationally unknown and highly underrated hills of Southern California. But first it is important to note that none of these adventures (or misadventures) occurred on a Scheduled Activity of the Sierra Club. As such they are not necessarily reflective of Club policies and procedures nor representative of the types of experiences you might have on a Club outing. So in no particular order of importance or chronology here are some of the highlights from many happy years of hiking with wonderful people to marvelous places — the unforgettable experiences that keep me coming back for more.

“What The Hell Do You Think You're Doing? I've Got Dogs Here That'll Eat You Alive!” That was how he introduced himself. And unschooled as I am in the subtleties of human salutations, I immediately sensed something was bothering him. I had just climbed over a gate that had a sign saying something like “Private Property – No Trespassing – Keep Out – This Means You!” Had I inadvertently wandered off public land and onto private land? Mmm ... maybe. I glanced at the dogs. They had that bug-eyed mutant mongrel from hell look that said “We don’t give a damn about the American Kennel Club and our owner sure as hell doesn’t give a damn about you." I looked at the owner. The dogs were right! And with this realization the thumb of my right hand went reflexively to the quick release button of my SOG flash II fighting folder ready to execute the standard linear infighting neural-override engagement technique described in the U.S. Marines Close-Quarters Combat Manual (a book, I understand, every hiker owns and studies to prepare for that inevitable confrontation with an aggressive bird watcher!). 1) Rear hand slash driving the blade through the opponent's throat/neck area. 2) Withdraw the blade through the opponent's wound to cause additional trauma. 3) Deliver downward thrusts into opponent's upper chest cavity through wound as a finishing technique. Okay. Ready ... set ... But before I could get to "go" a pitifully atrophied and seldom listened to voice of reason started screaming: "Empathize Mars! Empathize!! Would you like to have your throat slashed whileestroiling about your own property?" Mm ... mm ... mm ... mm ... mm ... mm ... mm ... probably not. Okay. Plan B. Play dumb. "Oh I'm so sorry. I was descending from Palm View and Cone trying to follow a trail and I got lost. Can you help me?" And I showed him my map. My request for help plus the map in hand greatly diffused the situation. The dogs were called off and a dialogue began. He turned out to be a hunting guide and knew well the area I had just hiked. We talked about Palm View, Cone and other places along the desert divide ridge. We now had common ground and he explained to me how to access the trail from Cone to the end of Morris Ranch Rd while staying on Forest Service land: go through the corral, slay to the right of a fence, and look for a trail taking off to the right near an abandoned pink trailer home. And I've been doing Cone that way ever since. We ended up smiling and warmly shaking hands. Whew! I didn't have to skewer his eat-me-alive dogs on the carbide tips of my Leki trekking poles after all!

The Mother Of All My Senior Moments

Winnette Butler was interested in snowshoeing Winston Ridge. I assured her it would be a simple and enjoyable excursion I knew well having been there many times. We drove up Highway 2 and in the vicinity of Waterman I started looking for the yellow gate on the left I had parked by on all my previous visits to Winston Ridge. To set the stage for what followed I'll reveal that we were 1) deep into a Bush/Kerry conversation and 2) I cannot multitask. I saw a yellow gate. That must be it! So I parked. We geared up and began our snowshoe hike. About 15 minutes into our walk I began to feel some cognitive unease. The road was going up yet on all the other times I had visited Winston Ridge the road went down. I struggled to make some sense of this and to bring it into harmony with my certainty that we had parked at the trail head. Perhaps the Forest Service, flush with money from the Adventure Pass, had rerouted the road and naturalized the old one. I looked down and kind of convinced myself that I could faintly detect the line of a partially disguised road gradually descending. Okay. Onward! About 30 minutes into the adventure the road started curving to the right. This was extremely puzzling since on all previous visits the road had curved left and, in fact, the shape of the land wouldn't allow it to curve right even if we were on a rerouted road. I desperately struggled to resolve this dissonance. Perhaps there had been a slow, rather than violent, shift in the tectonic plates and the authorities, distracted by the war on terror, had delayed telling us that what was left was now right and that what was up was now down. This seemed to require an almost paranoid and cynical view of our impeccably principled politicians that was too much of a stretch even for me, an unrepentant Libertarian, to fully make. Oh well. We were deep into the mystery hike by then. May as well see it through. Which we did, until finally we were standing on an unassailable reality: "Winnette, I don't know how and I don't know why, but we are on Akawi instead of Winston Ridge! Sorry."

Over The Handlebars And Into Unpredictable Predicaments

The mountain bike, which I have renamed the nature bike because of the benign way in which I use it, is my favorite means to visit peaks that otherwise involve a fire road walk. As John F. Kennedy, 35th U.S. President, said: "Nothing compares to the simple pleasure of a bike ride." And simple and pleasurable it would be if I would just content myself with beach cruising along.

However, the mountain bike magazines are full of ever more action shots of 20-something professional male riders doing amazing jumps and tricks that fire my imagination. And I start thinking: "I should be able to do some of this stuff. Why I'm only 63 and an absolute beginner!" And so I try. Example — the front wheelie. The idea is to push down on the handlebars and then pull up, shifting one's weight to the back while executing a power stroke to one pedal, thus lifting the front wheel up and over an obstacle such as a log or ditch. In my version the timing is still a little off. Instead of clearing the ditch I come down with full force and at a right angle into the opposite bank. Of course the bike abruptly stops. But not me .... I keep going!!! And since I have a death grip on the handlebars I rotate around them and end up (so far) on my back contemplating the clouds and asking myself: "What's wrong with hiking?" I highly recommend this maneuver to other senior citizens if they can fit it in between bingo and shuffleboard. The uncertainty of the landing has the potential to greatly reduce the burden on our social security system. (By the way, our Dear Leader mountain bikes on his ranch in Texas and he can do this! No not the intended up and over the obstacle version (That would be just what the terrorists are expecting.) but the unintended right into the obstacle and over the handlebars version. (So that's how he keeps his enemies off balance! Brilliant!!!)

Anyway, reasoning that being paralyzed from the neck down could only negatively impact my already mediocre bike handling skills I've started to back off on a lot of these clever techniques. Beach cruising fire roads is beginning to look cool. Way cool.

But what about you? Are you ready to ride? Here are two more inspiring quotes from the International Mountain Bicycling Association calendar: "When man invented the bicycle he reached the peak of his attainments." - Elizabeth West, Writer and "Cycle trails will abound in Utopia." - H.G. Wells, Writer. And here is the real world progression: The first few times I visited Josephine I was on foot and say only boot prints in the dirt road. A couple of years later, I started seeing some bike tracks. A couple of years later still, I saw even more bike tracks. Now I see many more bike tracks than boot prints. And some of those bike tracks are my own, for I haven't hiked Josephine in years!

Now And Zen A Hiker Has An Epic

I'm going to use this incident to try to convince you to avoid solo hiking. Yet before I get into it and you start thinking what a pompous hypocrite I am (which I probably am anyway) I'll acknowledge that solo hiking happens. You'll see many register signs indicating the hiker was alone. Some of them will be mine. And you'll pass hikers in the mountains alone. Perhaps me. For the urge to hike always exceeds the capacity of the section to satisfy it with official outings. So some people take chances and go solo. Yet it is certainly not the optimum situation. Two or more heads are usually better than one (unless one of them is mine, in which case the value of the additional heads is pretty much canceled out and we're all in Big Trouble!). And the gear required to handle unexpected situations is more easily spread among several people than carried by one. And in an emergency someone not affected could go for help. Yes solo hiking is dramatically riskier than group hiking. The safest and most sensible way to visit the destinations (I could have said "peaks" but isn't Barley Flats more of a destination than a peak?) on the HPS list is on scheduled outings with a couple of our many experienced and skillful leaders. (Now there's another reason to do the LIST. It makes for more knowledgeable leaders!). If, in spite of all the admonitions against it, you choose to solo hike, the increased risk should at least be acknowledged and thoughtfully attenuated.

Okay. The incident. I had gone through the Zen Center to climb Antsell Rock, which I did by the gully route that leads up to the 5.1 chute, and then I proceeded along the Sam Fink trail to hike Southwell. I was returning along the section of the PCT below the Sam Fink route — the section blasted into the side of Antsell and having steep drop-off to the north — when I thought I saw someone sprawled out in a sleeping bag on the trail ahead. I was surprised that anyone would camp on this part of the trail since one restless move in the night could send them tumbling down the side. As I walked closer I realized there was indeed a person in a sleeping bag on the trail! It was a woman of about 55, looking worn and anxious. Not sure if this was a routine or unusual practice for her, I began with cautious neutrality. "Hi! Scenic campsite you've got. Is everything okay?" But everything was not okay and the ordeal came out.

She was a PCT backpacker heading north when she encountered a rock slide on the trail at the base of one of the gullies coming off Antsell. In attempting to cross it she slipped and broke her ankle. She had been lying there without water and without encountering another soul for three days. I gave her something to drink and told her I would run down to the Zen Center to call 911 and that she could count on being helped within a few hours. This scenario comforted her and I said some parting words and took off. As I approached the Zen Center I started screaming: "Help! Help! Emergency!!" over and over. Finally a door opened and a young fellow of completely unfazed and calm demeanor (maybe we should all get into Zen!) asked what was wrong. I explained the situation and he led me in to use one of their phones to contact 911. Within minutes several fire trucks and ambulances, probably from the Morris Ranch Road station, arrived and I started giving them directions and other details as they geared up with a stretcher and additional equipment for the rescue. I felt very relieved. The desperate woman would not have to spend another lonely, painful, and dangerous night on the mountain.

I mentioned I said some parting words to her before descending for help. I asked her if there was anyone she would like me to call. "No!", she said, "They'll be mad at me. They've asked me so many times not to hike alone." So there you have it. Never hike alone! Never!! Now if only I could just follow my own advice.

Weird Happenings With Wild Things In Wild Places

After hiking to Big Rabbit, Kathy Cheever and I were crossing the desert floor at night towards our vehicle at the base of Coyote Mountain when we saw ahead of us two bright reflections of our headlights. They stayed stationary as we approached and eventually our lights revealed that they were the eyes of a fox. We were now almost within touching distance of the animal yet it did not flee. We stood studying the creature, transfixed by the abnormality of the event. As we moved forward it surprised us again by trotting along, zigzagging back and forth in front of us, and stopping now and then for us to once more get unusually close to a wild animal, if indeed that's what it actually was. This unexpected behavior continued for about 45 minutes and then the creature disappeared. Kathy looked it up on the web and it appears to be a type of fox from another part of the world. We speculated that it could be a pet that escaped and felt rather sad than an animal with which we had formed an unanticipated bond would probably soon be some other animal's meal. Roughly a year later we were again crossing that same stretch of desert at night. We remembered the strange and captivating little fox and laughingly asked ourselves if it was still alive and would it make another appearance, our linear rational minds having already decided that the first appearance was outside the box and, therefore, a second one would be impossibly outside the outside box. And then, to our complete awe, we encountered that same or a very similar fox and it repeated the same mysterious antics. It was an experience beyond words. Does Stephen Hawking have an explanation for this? No matter, Don Juan does!

While returning at night to the Palm Springs motel where we were staying in preparation for visiting Jean and Marion, Kathy and I saw three women in elaborate evening dress and jewelry walk towards us, look at us, cackle, and pass by. I told Kathy they were not women but three witches straight out of Mexico. And she said: a) "That's it! I'm never spending another night alone with you in a motel. You're crazy!!" b) "Oh, I thought they were just three women who had had a little too much to drink and were returning from a party." C) "Cool!!" Actually she didn't say anything, she just gave me a look. (Women, being sensitive, can say so much with a look. Unfortunately, men, being insensitive, can never understand what's being said!)

Yet I was certain the witches had put a negative spell on us that could cause us harm on Marion. And from that moment on I kept looking for a sign to go or not to go. We awoke and had breakfast. No sign. We drove to the tram. No sign. We went up the tram. No sign. We got our permit and began the short cut to Jean through Tamarack Campground and ..... we saw a deer. Okay. We've seen deer here before. But a few minutes later we saw another deer, and then another and another and another and another and another! This was more deer than we had ever before encountered around Tamarack. It was beginning to look like a sign. We climbed Jean and dropped down to the plateau heading for Marion when we noticed seven deer a couple of hundred feet to our right calmly paralleling us at our pace. We had never seen deer in this area. And the behavior of these deer was outside our expectation, out of the norm. This was the sign! The seven deer were our familiars protecting us from the negative energy of the three witches. It was okay to climb Marion. After our successful summiting, and descent of the peak I explained in detail the life or death significance of all these happenings to Kathy and she ..... just gave me that look again! But what does it mean!

Alright, lest you think Kathy is playing tricks on me by putting peyote juice in my Accelerade, here is but one example of an encounter that happened while she was hard at work at UCLA. I was trail running an easy section of the PCT enroute to Gleason. I approached a blind curve to my right and as I rounded it, there was a coyote trotting up the trail. The sound of the wind and fact that it was blowing towards me left him completely unaware of my presence. I gained ground on him and reached out and touched his back while saying: "Hey boy." I might as well have poked him with an electric cattle prod. He took off at lightning speed up the trail and is probably running still!

All I Am Saying Is Give Weird Science A Chance

I'm occasionally asked if I take anything special to facilitate regular hiking and biking. Not really. I eat the same certified organic foods from small sustainable family farms as any other conservationist. As a result of my interest in nature mountain biking and nature dirt biking, though, I became aware of sports supplements competitive athletes take before, during, and after an event and sometimes include these in my diet. Should you use these performance enhancers? (No! They won't increase the size of your penis! Let's keep this discussion serious. Please!) What about negative side effects? Couldn't they be ... yucky? I have no scientific background to address these concerns, having been raised by Celtic Canadian mystics. Only the three pillars of modern American society — our physician, our attorney, and our political representative — are wise enough to guide us in this area. I can reassure you, however, that, aside from hair loss, impotence, rectal bleeding, leaky heart valves, suspicious lumps, and sores that don't heal, I have experienced little — very little — in the way of negative side effects. And that's after years of using the stuff! Consequently, it is hard for me to understand the alarm regarding these high-tech, state-of-the-art, laboratory created molecules that have never before existed in the universe. We need to be free to be all that we can be! Right?

List Finish Number Twelve, Eh. What Does It Mean?

In terms of a vast array of great adventures and unforgettable experiences, it's priceless. Absolutely priceless. And I am eternally grateful to the Sierra Club and the Hundred Peaks Section for introducing me to the beauty, charm, and potential of our local mountains. Yet in terms of any supposed competition, it means much less than you might think! For there are numbers — numbers of peaks led and numbers of peaks hiked — and then there is quality. Those of you who had the pleasure of being on a lead by the great Frank Goodykoontz will remember his warm, accepting, and encouraging style. He was the first one to suggest to me that I should become a leader and the high quality of his leading style is what I aspire to when I lead. And those of you who had the pleasure of hiking with the great Carleton Shay will remember his uncanny ability to sense the route with little or no reference to map and compass and the easy and confident grace with which he could negotiate any challenging terrain. I remember doing a new route to Sam Fink Peak with Carleton. It was his first time doing the peak and we were attempting to leave the Willow Creek Trail somewhere, cross country, and end up at Laws Camp. He led and he hit it right on! I still have trouble finding that point. In fact, as some of the previous revelations make embarrassingly clear, I still have trouble doing a lot of things. Like I said, there are numbers and there is quality. There are the two masters of the Hundred Peaks List — Frank Goodykoontz, the Master Leader, and Carleton Shay, the Master Hiker. And then there are the pretenders to the throne. I am and always will be in this latter category.

I hope to see you in the great outdoors and I hope you will be enjoying and appreciating it every bit as much as I will be.

These Are A Few Of My Favorite Things

Knit caps and mittens and booties for hiking
Backpacks and parkas and girly gators
Walking sticks, trails and new dental fittings

These are a few of my favorite things

Forerunners and four wheelers and hearing aids and glasses
Polident and Fixodent and false teeth in glasses
Pacemakers, heart monitors and mountains with trees

These are a few of my favorite things

When the pipes leak, when the bones creak
When the knees go bad, I simply remember my favorite things
And then I don't feel so bad.

Hot tea and crumpets and compads for bunions
Hot springs and snowshoes with Rosemary a waiting
Nathrobes and heating pads and hot meals they bring

These are a few of my favorite things

Back pains, confused brains and no fear of sinnin'
Thin bones and fractures and hair that is thinnin'
And we won't mention his tall lanky frame

When we remember our favorite things

When the joints ache, when the hips break
When the eyes grow dim
Then I remember the great life I've had
And then I don't feel so bad.

Scenes From The Annual Awards Banquet

Thanks to Wolf Leverich for the photos

Tom Hill acknowledges the applause from the crowd as he accepts the R. S. Fink Service Award. Tom has led the HPS List, served as Chair and also served the section (including the latest complete re-writing of our bylaws) in many other capacities. "woo oh!"

Peter Doggett walked briskly to the podium to receive the John Backus Leadership Award. On the table behind Peter can be seen the perpetual trophies which are maintained in the Angeles Chapter office on display for all to see. They're located in the Chapter's library.

Ignacia Doggett received the Bill T. Russell New Leader Award at the Banquet. Ignacia leads many hikes with her husband, Peter, and their hikes are often quite adventuresome.

Karen Isaacson Leverich and Wolf Leverich received special awards for their years of service to the hundred Peaks Section. Karen's award was for Inspiration and Encouragement. Wolf's award was for Spirit of Volunteerism. Karen and Wolf have served the HPS in many areas including Outings, Mountain Records, webmasters, and each has served as Chair of the Section.
Join the Sierra Club!

If you are a Sierra Club member, you receive the Angeles Chapter Schedule of Activities (if you live in Los Angeles and Orange counties). That way you have ALL the addresses (email and regular mail, as well as telephone numbers) of ALL leaders. However, you must be a Sierra Club member to receive the Schedule of Activities. To become a member, make a copy of this form, fill it out and mail it with appropriate check amount to the address indicated.

The dues include subscription to Sierra Magazine. If you live in Los Angeles or Orange Counties, your dues also include a subscription to the Southern Sierran newsletter and to the Angeles Chapter Schedule of Activities.

Angeles Chapter Establishes Trail Access Committee

Over the years a number of peaks have had to be delisted because access to them had become restricted. Yet these same peaks remain beautiful, dominant summits that beckon hikers and climbers. Many of these peaks used to be scheduled and climbed by HPS and other hiking entities, both within and outside of the Sierra Club. Many of the outings to these peaks took place before 1972, and continued well after 1972. That fact may be able to help us regain access to trails and peaks that have been blocked by private property owners.

The Chapter has determined that in certain cases, if outings to these peaks took place over at least a five year period prior to 1972, the public may have acquired an access right that could still be in effect. Access may have been illegally restricted in some cases. Denial of access even today may be improper.

The Chapter has formed a committee to look at instances where access to trails has been improperly restricted and where we may be able to regain access that should never have been denied.

The implications of this are far reaching. It may be possible to restore a few peaks to our List. It may be possible to restore access to currently listed peaks via routes that had been closed off years ago.

While the initial focus of this committee was trail access within the area of the Angeles Chapter, there may be instances where trail access to HPS peaks outside of this area may be looked at for possible review.

If you are aware of peaks which have been delisted because of limitations related to private property concerns restricting trail access, or limitations on access to currently listed peaks (even if the peak is climbed via an alternate route), please contact any member of the Trail Access Committee. We'd appreciate your support and information in helping us document use of trails prior to 1972, and attempts to use trails since then. The Trail Access Committee meets monthly at the Angeles Chapter headquarters. Its members are Joe Young (Chair), John Hinz, Virgil Shields, and Kent Schwitki as well as attorneys Michael Partos, Marc Polansky, Leah Russin and Tenaya Rodewald.
In the last two months, two new deficient registers were reported and no new “missings”, “replaceds” or “founds.” Reports were received from Troy & Jeni Nichols, Edith Liu, Kent Schwaitkus, and Joe Young. Edith Liu reports that she rescued two wet register books from the punctured register on Black #3 and now that they are dried out would like to give the to someone else climbing the peak who can return them and replace the deficient can.

If you are climbing any of the above peaks, please consider bringing a new register can and book. If you discover a peak which needs a new register can, please let me know by mail addressed to Jim Adler, 836 Alandale Ave., Los Angeles, CA 90036-4625, or telephone at (323) 931-6844 or e-mail at jimadler@ mindspring.com. Also, please advise if you have replaced any of the missing or deficient registers or discover that any of the above reports are erroneous or out of date. (Since register books and pencils are so easy to carry all the time, peaks where only books or pencils are needed are not listed.)

Management Committee Meeting Minutes

Date: November 14, 2006
Location: Don Cucos Restaurant, Glendale

Management Committee Members Present: Winnette Butler, Dave Comerzan, Jim Fleming, Karen Isaacson Leverich, Lynda Armbruster, Greg de Hoogh
Management Committee Members Absent: Wolf Leverich
Appointed Members Present: Joe Young
Guests Present: Tom Armbruster, Don Cwik, George Wysup, Kent Schwikis

The meeting was called to order at 6:35 pm by Winnette, Chair.
Lynda submitted the minutes of the September 12th meeting. Some corrections were made. The minutes, with corrections, were submitted for approval. M/s/p.

Committee Reports:

TREASURER: Sandy Burnside:
- Wolf was not available to present the financials. Approval of Sept. and October financials was tabled until our next meeting.

MEMBERSHIP: Greg de Hoogh:
- The Membership report was submitted by Greg for approval (see attached). M/s/p.

OUTREACH: Lynda Armbruster:
- Lynda reported that she was able to attend a Newcomer's meeting in Costa Mesa. She will continue to attend these meetings whenever possible.

PROGRAMS: Jim Fleming:
- Fall Festival: It was reported that this was a successful event with 50+ people attending the various events. This included members of DPS and SPS.
- 2007 Banquet: April Sall from the Wildlands Conservancy's Pipe Canyon Preserve will be our speaker. Jim will tell her to plan on a 45-60 minute presentation and to include the teaching aspect of Wildlands along with their preservation efforts. - We need to develop a flyer to advertise this event. Jim has a target date of 12/1 to complete the flyer.
- Raffle: We will once again go with the silent auction to raise funds. Members are encouraged to contribute items for auction. We will see if we can get peak guides from DPS/SPS/LPS for auction. Jim will send Joe the information by Dec 1st for Jan/Feb Lookout.

Spring Fling: The Mission Creek Preserve campground has been reserved for the weekend of March 24-25. Jim will see if we can also reserve for Friday night, the 23rd. The cost is $5 per person for the weekend. No campfires are allowed. Must use stoves. You will need a parking permit which will come with the reservation. Karen reported 2-3 hikes per day have been scheduled.

Adopt-A-Highway:
- The next schedule day for a cleanup hike is scheduled for May 5th. Winnette and Karen will assist Jim as co-leaders.

Waterman Rendezvous:
- There followed a discussion on this annual event. Participation has been declining. There were a number of complaints that it was too hot, and that everyone is tired of doing this peak so often. We talked about moving the date and location. It was agreed that the peak should be within reasonable driving distance of LA (i.e. Highway 2 or Big Bear area). There should be easy hikes for new-comers (one of this event's purpose) and multiple approaches. This item was tabled until the next meeting.

Merchandise:
- Jim brought up the need for merchandise to sell. Some ideas suggested were bandanas and shirts in the new fabrics available. Jim will follow up on these ideas. There was talk about producing a CD-ROM with peak guides. It was decided that since we put our guides on the web-site, this was not necessary.

OUTINGS: Karen Isaacson Leverich:
- Pilot Knob: Nothing new to report on this peak. Still having access problems. It was motioned we continue the suspension of this peak for another 6 months. M/s/p. San Sevino and Buck Pt.: Still having access problems. Nothing new to report. Do not need to renew suspension at this time. It is on the ballot to delist these peaks. Will wait for results of the ballot.
- Black #3: No problems in access to this peak.
- Beauty and Iron Springs: It is reported that there may be some access problems for these two peaks. Cannot confirm this at this point. No action taken.
- Suspension policy: There follow a discussion on what sort of guidelines can Mcom follow on suspension of peaks. After some discussion on the pros and cons of suspending peaks, the following guidelines were proposed: When the Outings Chair learns from an official source that access to a peak will be denied for at least six months or longer, the Chair will present the next Mcom meeting a motion to suspend that peak. This policy does not prevent Mcom from unsuspending a peak at any Mcom meeting. M/s/p. (5 for, 1 against)

Suspended Peaks: Based on the above guidelines, the following peaks were suspended: M/s/p.
- 231 Chaparrasora, 4E Tecuya, 7B Lockwood Peak, 7C San Guillermo Mtn., 7E Thorn Pt., 7F San Rafael Peak, 7G Alamo Mtn., 7H McDonald Peak, 7I Stewart Mtn., 7J Snowy Peak, 7K Black #2, 7L White #2, 7M Cobblestone, 7Q Hines Peak
- 7S Topatopa Bluff

Leader Access and Addresses: It was brought to the Outing Chair attention that some members do not have computer access and are unable to reach leaders who have trips scheduled in The Lookout. Dave volunteered to act as a contact point. His address will be published in each issue. We will take care of this.
Proposed new peak: Vaicrest Rocks is being considered for addition to the list. A request has made to lead this with only one "I" rated co-leader. After some discussion, it was decided to continue the policy of having two "I" rated co-leaders on new peaks being considered for the list.

MOUNTAIN RECORDS: Wolf Leverich:
No report was submitted for this month.

ELECTION COMMITTEE:
Winnette reported that the ballots have been mailed.

CONSERVATION: Mei Kwan:
Mei emailed a list of various meeting being held in November. Attached is a copy of this email.

ANGELES CHAPTER: Joe Young
Joe reported that Sid "San Jac" Davies recently passed away at age 90. Sid had climbed San Jacinto 643 times.
Joe reported that Kent Schwikits did an excellent job as chair of the recent Outings Assembly.

OLD BUSINESS:
HPS pins: Joe had nothing to report on this item.

NEW BUSINESS:
Stapler: Edith Liu reported that because changes in the way The Lookout is mailed, she no longer has need for the HPS stapler. It was suggested we auction this at the annual banquet.

Chapter 2007 Awards: Recommendations for chapter awards need to be submitted by Nov 1st of each year. We missed the deadline this year so nothing was submitted.

HPS Awards 2007: At a closed session of December meeting, Mcorn members must make suggestions for the following awards for January’s banquet: R.S. Fink Service Award, John Backus Leadership Award, Conservation Award, Bill T. Russell New Leader Award. Previous winners of these awards are posted on the website.

2007 Joint Climbing Sections Meeting: This meeting has been moved to the fall. It is HPS’s turn to chair this meeting. It was recommended that we combine this with the Fall Festival. No decision was reached. Tabled to next month.

2006 Charity Contributions: It was discussed that HPS donate $150 to Steve Smith’s non-profit organization that helped us with the fall festival. Winnette will direct Sandy to send them a check. M/s/p.

Letter to HPS Mcorn from Mars Bonfire (see attached): Mars sent a letter in which he raised three issues for discussion. These issues were: 1) Is it a Sierra Club policy that we remove unofficial route markers? 2) Is it Sierra Club policy that we place registers on public land? 3) If we do place registers, should they be at the tops of peaks or where the average nature hiker can safely reach them? There then followed a discussion on these and several other issues. It was reported that since these issues affect the entire club, Mars’ letter was forwarded to Chapter where it is with the Safety Committee. In addition to removing and leaving markers, the issue of trail maintenance was discussed, specifically cutting significant tree limbs to clear a route to a peak. After some discussion, the following points were agreed upon:

1) HPS will discourage leaving markers on official trips, and if left, remove them on the way out. It will also discourage members from removing markers found while hiking. 2) Official maintenance of trails should be done in conjunction with the Land Use Agency for that area. Kent suggested HPS should encourage its members to become involved in trail maintenance. There was discussion of a Conservation Emblem. 3) Registers should be left where originally placed. There is no requirement that someone needs to go to the top to officially count a peak. It should be left to the leader of the trip to determine if a person is capable to make it to the top. Joe will draft a policy statement to reflect these thoughts. Also discussed were articles in The Lookout that specifically make reference to a member in a negative way. It was generally agreed that we should discourage these types of articles.

The meeting was adjourned at 9:40 pm by Winnette Butler, Chair.

Respectfully submitted: Dave Comerzan

Date: December 12, 2006
Location: Winnette Butler’s Home

Management committee Members Present: Winnette Butler, Dave Comerzan, Jim Fleming, Wolf Leverich, Karen Isaacson Leverich, Lynda Armbruster, Greg De Hoogh
Management Committee Members Absent: None.
Appointed Members Present: Joe Young,
Guests Present: Doris Duval, Tom Armbruster

The meeting was called to order at 7:00 pm by Winnette, Chair.

Dave Comerzan submitted for approval the minutes of the November 14, 2006 meeting. M/s/p.

Committee Reports:

TREASURER: Sandy Burnsiede: Wolf submitted for approval the financials for the months of September, October, November for Sandy. M/s/p.

MEMBERSHIP: Greg de Hoogh: The Membership report was submitted by Greg for approval (see attached). It was noted that Pamela Rowe has completed 200 peaks, however, as of this meeting, her membership check has not been received. Her name was removed from the list and will be reinstated when her check is received. M/s/p. Also discussed was the cutoff date for announcement of achievement awards at the banquet. It was decided to hold a short meeting just before the banquet at 5:00 pm to approve last minute achievements. These will then be announced at the banquet. We will continue this policy of going from banquet to banquet in announcing various achievement awards. The person who has achieved the emblem must notify the Membership Chair by the night of the banquet.

OUTREACH: Lynda Ambruster: Lynda had nothing new to report since the last meeting.

PROGRAMS: Jim Fleming:
- The check for deposit on the banquet has been requested. Members are to notify Jim of items they will bring for the silent auction. After some discussion it was decided to insert the flyer in Jan/Feb Lookout and that this Lookout will be mailed first class. M/s/p.
- The flyer will be completed by Winnette and delivered to Edith by next Monday.
- Lynda announce we will be doing a fund raiser by requesting members to bring used cell phone and ink jet cartridges. These can be turned in for money.
- Spring Fling: No word yet on whether we will be able to use the campsite on Friday night. Jim will develop a flyer announcing this event. It will be distributed at the banquet and will be in the Mar/Apr Lookout. The flyer needs to request that a case be included with the reservation to send the parking permit back.
- Waterman Rendezvous: After some discussion, it was decided to continue to hold this event on Waterman on the last Saturday in July which is July 28th this year. Based on attendance, we will decide whether to continue this event in 2008.
- Merchandise: Nothing new to report on developing bandanas for sale to members.

OUTINGS: Karen Isaacson Leverich: Karen submitted a list of leaders that are approved to lead certain "M" rated peaks. The list was reviewed and submitted for approval (see attached). M/s/p.

There then followed a discussion on the rating of some of our peaks. It has been raised that some of our peaks may be unsafe for "I" rated leaders to lead. It was decided that based on our peak guide routes, all of our peaks are safe for "I" rated leaders to lead. This policy will stay in effect unless overruled by Chapter Safety. Wolf will send this response to Chapter Safety.

Karen reported that Buck and San Sevaine remain suspended. Forest Service is not allowing hikers into this area.

Election Results: Doris reported on the results of the recent election. Winning 2 year terms were: Wolf, Karen, Jim, Greg. Winning 1 year terms were: Lynda, Dave.
- Special thanks to all who ran for Management Committee
- The proposal for the by-law change was passed.
- The proposal to delist Palomar, Buck and San Sevaine was defeated.
- The results were submitted for approval. M/s/p.

CONSERVATION: Mei Kwan: No report on conservation was reported.

ANGELES CHAPTER: Joe Young: Joe gave a report on the recent elections that was held. Only about 1000 ballots were received out of a membership of 50,000. Joe reported that a problem with the postal box has been discovered. Joe will be on the election committee in 2007.

OLD BUSINESS: Joe had nothing new to report on development of the pins.

Summit block tradition. There has been some discussion recently about when is a peak "counted", i.e., is it necessary to climb to the top of a summit block to count a peak? The HPS Management Committee acknowledges that there is no clear definition of what is required to count the peak. We stand by the tradition that summit blocks are optional. M/s/p.

Personal attacks in The Lookout. HPS Management Committee does not believe personal attacks, whether direct or by sly innuendo, belong in The Lookout. We have asked Joe Young, The Lookout Editor, to please help us avoid publication of inappropriate articles in the future.

Trip reports. It was decided that The Lookout should have a disclaimer regarded articles submitted that they are the views of the writer and do not reflect the opinion of HPS.

NEW BUSINESS: No new business was brought up.

The meeting was adjourned at 9:00 pm and moved into Executive Session.

If you love being in the Sierra, you’ll love mule pack trips! All the joys of backpacking and more without carrying a pack!

By Laura Joseph

The Mule Pack section conducts camping trips in the Sierra, generally between Lone Pine and Yosemite on the east side of the Range, lasting between four and seven days. Because mules carry up to 55 pounds of each participant's gear, food and supplies, you can enjoy the beauties and activities of the Sierra without the burden of a heavy backpack and with a greater variety of food, a larger tent, and other amenities not possible on a typical backpack trip.

On the first day, mules carry our gear in while we hike to a campsite at an elevation of 9,000 to 12,000 feet in the scenic back country. We set up camp and, for the "layover" days, enjoy hiking, fishing, reading, relaxing, swimming, naturalizing, or whatever other activity the participant chooses. All activities are informal and unscheduled, although leaders typically plan some hike for those who wish to participate. In the evenings, we enjoy the traditional "Happy Hour" -- a potluck that often serves as dinner -- that includes goodies contributed by participants and wine provided by the Section. If regulations allow, a campfire is part of this event. On the last day, the mules return to pick up our gear and we hike out, looking forward to next year's adventure.

Each participant must bring his/her own gear and food, tent, stove, water filter, and other equipment necessary on a camping trip -- and a chair for luxurious comfort.

Mule packs are great opportunities not just for people who love to backpack and appreciate the opportunity to be free of weight, but for

- Couples who enjoy the outdoors but one of whom does not backpack. Peak baggers (especially those who want to pick up some Sierra Peaks) -- or lake, pass baggers.
- Photographers
- Fishers
- Folks who love to hike and camp and but don't like carrying a backpack
- People who love to enjoy the outdoors in relative comfort

Five trips are planned for 2007. For those who prefer long weekend trips, the season opens July 12 with a trip to Rush Creek in the beautiful Thousand Lakes area, near the John Muir trail with lots of opportunities for lake and pass hikes. This trip is lead by John Kaiser (who is knowledgeable about flowers) with Laura Joseph and Winnette Butler. (Email Laura for trip info)

Three trips last a full-week. Sandy Burnside, Yvonne Tsai and Laura Joseph will lead a trip to Purple Lake. The John Muir trail, Virginia Lake, Ram Lakes, and Franklin Lakes provide many day hike possibilities. For those who love to explore, Laura and Sandy are known for their creative cross-country adventures. (Email Yvonne for trip info)

Next on the calendar is a trip to Virginia Canyon, a spectacular area in the northeast corner of Yosemite. The trip is led by George Wysup — a legend in the Hundred Peaks section for being the 10th person ever to lead the List and the first to hike 200 peaks by three different routes each. This is the trip for serious hikers to choose. Laura Joseph, also a peak-bagger and mule pack regular, is co-leader. (Email George for trip info)

"The Sandies" (Burnside and Sperling) will lead the trip to Crown Lake in the Hoover Wilderness. The Sandies' trips are always popular for fun hikes and great Happy Hours. (Email Sandy S for trip info)

The second short trip, led by Dave Cross and Christine Gutierrez, closes the season over Labor Day Weekend. This year they will head for a campsite below Vogalsang Peak in Yosemite Park. (Email Christine for trip info)

The cost of the trips ranges from $175 to $250. Weight limit per person is 45 pounds on the short trips and 50 on the longer ones (plus whatever you want to carry yourself).
