From the Editor:

I'm not a very good hiker. I admit it. I'm slow, I'm old, my joints ache, my feet hurt, I complain a lot, but I do enjoy the sport of peak bagging that we all participate in. What I really enjoy is the comradery shared with my fellow hikers and friends, and the encouraging words and advice they offer. I know I still have a lot to learn. Every hike is unique, and every peak has its own personality and challenges. These times spent with others are priceless.

As I approach the finish line of completing The List, I want to enjoy the about 3-dozen I have left to yet experience. I’ve managed to do most of the more difficult peaks earlier in my pursuit, and recently have survived some of the remaining difficult ones: i.e. Ross, Monrovia, Lizard Head, and Rosa Point. Don’t remind me that I still need to do Charlton, Jepson, and Dobbs! I can honestly say that I wouldn't have achieved these without the support of my fellow hikers and the caring, experienced leaders we all rely on. They all have my appreciation.

We hear that our numbers are dwindling, that there aren’t as many new hikers and Sierra Club members. Modern society offers many distractions and people have much to do in their busy lives. Maintaining your personal fitness and interacting with others is still important, and is perfectly accomplished by our hiking groups. Encourage your friends and their friends to try a hike with the HPS or another Sierra Club hike. Encourage your favorite HPS leaders to plan and put together new hikes that everyone can enjoy. Spread the word about the benefits of our hiking. Participate and encourage the participation of your friends and family.

A good opportunity is the Spring Fling 2013 coming up April 26-28 and happening in Area 2, near Lake Isabella. Popular leader Mat Kelliher is organizing the event as part of his new duties as Co-Outings Chair. Contact him with any questions and see information regarding this event on pages 10-11 in this issue. A group campsite has been secured, and local motels are available for those who prefer to not “rough it” so much. It’s a beautiful area with many great peaks to explore, or revisit. I hope to see you there! ~Chris Spisak

It is with great sadness that as I complete the layout of this newsletter I have learned of a death in our HPS family of Darrick Danta, husband of Sara Danta, and experienced mountaineer. Information is not complete at this time, but it appears he perished while climbing New York Mountain, in the Mojave Desert Preserve.

Our love and support is with Sara in these trying times. Every moment together is priceless.

In January, the HPS celebrated another year of personal accomplishments at our annual HPS Banquet. A few photos from the event will appear throughout this issue.

Plan on attending next year's event, and the other HPS events that occur during this year. It is another chance to see old friends and acquaintances, and to meet new HPS members and their families.

Set aside the dates of Friday April 26 through Sunday April 28 and mark your calendars now!! Then come and join us on our 2013 Annual Spring Fling as we welcome in the spring with a fun and festive weekend full of outstanding peak bagging, spectacular wildflower viewing, and hearty evening partying in the Southern Sierras!!

This year the Hundred Peaks Section will be holding its annual Spring Fling on the western shore of Lake Isabella from Friday April 26 - Sunday April 28. We’ll be centrally located for relatively quick access to many of our peaks in the beautiful Southern Sierra Nevada (HPS Areas 1 and 2). As we get closer to the event, check the HPS Website at http://angeles.sierraclub.org/hps/http://angeles2.sierraclub.org/find_hike_trip_event to find specific outings to be offered and contact the outing leaders directly for details.

We’ve reserved a group campsite for Saturday night (April 27) at the Tillie Creek Campground near the town of Lake Isabella. The campground is equipped with a shower, flushing toilets, and potable water. Our campsite has picnic tables, a BBQ, and a fire ring. For those who prefer not to camp out, the nearby communities of Lake Isabella, Wofford Heights, and Keyesville offer a variety of lodging choices.

Saturday night we’ll have a big Happy Hour/Potluck at the campsite, with plenty of opportunity to socialize and hang out around a roaring campfire with old and new friends. Whether you’re camping out or staying in town, everyone is welcome and all are encouraged to attend. If you’re planning on camping out with us, be sure to make reservations in advance. For questions, campground, driving directions, potluck suggestions and reservations, contact:

FLOWER LIST – On Cross and Chuckwalla
(From our departed but not forgotten George Wysup)

By Lilly Fukui

After our hike to Cross and Chuckwalla, George Wysup sent an e-mail:

"Hello hikers, In case you are interested, here is a (partial) list of the wildflowers we encountered on our March 8 (2009) hike to Cross and Chuckwalla. I’ve probably forgotten a few. It was a surprisingly good display and the blooms should hold for another few weeks.”

Bladderpod  Isomeris arborea   (seen as we drove along the roadside)
Coreopsis bigelovii    (that multitude of large daisies)
CA Poppy  Eshcholtzia Californica
Phlox, white   (species?)
Checker Fiddleneck (Devil’s Lettuce) Amsinckia tesselata
Goldfields    (those small daisies)
Phacelia, Notch-leaved
Baby Blue Eyes  Nemophila menziesii
Blue Dicks    (wild hyacinth)
Desert Pincushion
Redstem Storkbill (filaree)  Erodium cicutarium
Bolander's Monkeyflower
Chia  Salvia columbariae

Spring begins on March 20th! Keep your eyes open for the above and other beautiful spring flowers as you hike and enjoy the exquisite and blooming nature of the outdoors.
Former HPS leader Janet Yang moved to Indiana in March of 2004, to join her hiker hubby David Zalewski who had moved there four months prior, and had started his job at Eli Lilly in November of 2003.

Janet became an HPS leader around 2002. David is not an HPS leader, but he has helped Janet scout trails before she led official hikes, often co-leading with Kate Rogowski. Janet states: “I appreciated being led to so many beautiful places by many excellent leaders so I thought I might follow their steps and inspire some other new comers.”

Janet is currently a legal assistant with the United States Attorney’s Office in Indianapolis, and she says she enjoys what she is doing, by “putting criminals behind bars and that it’s a privilege to be a federal employee.”

Here is what David says he is up to lately: “Over the past few years, I have worked in State and Federal Government in the Midwest. These days, I am more useful, formulating new nutriceuticals and blogging, and it sure would be nice to be back in the L.A. area hiking with you all . . . soon, I hope!”

Janet and David are also avid runners (no, not on the trails), but doing marathons. Janet and David did a full marathon last September (Air Force Marathon, in Dayton, Ohio). They also just signed up for the Indy 500 Mini Marathon, 2013, saying: “With so many corn fields around, running a race is a way to stay in shape. Tecumseh Trail Marathon was one of the marathons we did closest to a BIG HIKE – 3500 ft. gain with 2000 ft. loss in which we got it done within seven hours!” Way to go, you two!
In this issue of the Navigation Corner, we will briefly review using the sun and stars as a navigation aid. Obviously, celestial navigation is no substitute for a compass. However, if your compass is lost or broken, you may have no choice but to turn to other navigation aids.

The Sun

The sun rises in the east and sets in the west. On the vernal and autumnal equinoxes, the sun will be due east (90° bearing) at sunrise and due west (270°) at sunset. However, the sun’s location will change depending on the seasons. Thus, unless you take these changes into account, all the sun’s location will tell you is a generally east and west.

At our latitude, the location of the sun will change by 28° between the equinox and the solstice as demonstrated in the following illustration:

![Diagram of Sun's Location through the Year]

Vernal Equinox: March 20, 2013
Summer Solstice: June 21, 2013
Autumnal Equinox: September 22, 2013
Winter Solstice: December 21, 2013

What this means is that the sun’s location in the eastern sky can range from 62 to 118 degrees. Thus, during much of the year, the sun’s location does not provide a precise bearing to either east or west.
The North Star or Polaris

Polaris lies roughly one half degree from the North Celestial Pole, so this particular star appears to remain stationary hour after hour and night after night. Between the Equator and the North Pole, the angle of Polaris above the horizon is a direct measure of latitude. “Latitude” is the angular distance north or south of the Earth’s Equator. At the geographic North Pole (90° north latitude), Polaris is directly overhead at an angle of 90°. At the Equator (0° latitude), Polaris is sitting on the horizon with an angle of zero.

Look at the North Star and point one arm straight at it, and then hold your other arm level with the horizon. The angle between your arms is roughly the degrees of latitude of your location. Alternatively, if you know your latitude, you can use it to help locate Polaris in the night sky. In southern California, you will find Polaris to your north at a 34° angle above the horizon. The Big Dipper is an excellent pointer toward Polaris.

Polaris provides a more consistent bearing than the sun because it does not change position in the sky during the year.

Upcoming Navigation Events

Our two-day Warren Point Navigation Noodle on April 20 and 21, 2013, is a great place to learn new navigation skills. Saturday is spent with instruction and field practice. Sunday is for check off for those who are ready and an additional practice day for others. We will be car camping starting on Friday afternoon.

Our next Beginning Navigation Clinic is on May 4, 2013. In June, I’m leading a navigation practice to Heart Bar Peak on June 1, 2013, and we have our Grinnell Ridge Navigation Noodle on June 2, 2013.

I welcome your navigation questions. Contact me at rmmyers@ix.netcom.com.
Dear Hundred Peaks friends and hikers ... I am honored, awed, and grateful to have been the recipient of the 2012 R. Sam Fink Award. I am so sorry not to have been at the banquet to thank you in person. As some of you already know, my father had been struggling with bad health for several years and died the day before the banquet. He would have been proud, too ... he vicariously enjoyed my peak bagging and bragged to friends that I had climbed McKinley (not enlightening them about its being the McKinley in Los Padres Forest rather than, you know, that other McKinley.)

Although I’ve currently wound down most of my HPS activities due to personal matters, I’m intending to become more active in 2013 and hope to see all of my friends, old and new, on several of our peaks, perhaps at Waterman or Fall Festival or Mars’ 39th List finish or...

I first climbed Sam Fink Peak in August 2001, a week or so after my 100th peak. Although I’d heard of Sam Fink, the reality of what he’d done for our section and hikers in general didn’t become real until a later climb of Antsell Rock. After scrambling up Antsell via a gully from the Pacific Crest Trail, I was very much looking forward to taking the "Sam Fink Trail" north to the saddle on the PCT below Southwell (or South) Peak. Well. That was hardly a cakewalk, and it certainly wasn’t a trail! It was more an agility test through brush and rock, spotting the occasional tag that Sam had left to guide us. And he’d been up there, exploring this terrain, before there was a Pacific Crest Trail! Many of you knew him, but I never had that honor.

Anyhow, once I get my hiking legs back, I’m hoping to revisit Sam Fink Peak. I don’t need it for my next List finish (if I ever finish my 4th and 5th Lists, it will be handy for a 6th, not that I’m counting), but it is such a wonderful hike. Next fall, anyone? I’m thinking Devil’s Slide, having done it once from the tram and all that gain on the exit, oh my...

Be seeing you soon!   Karen

This was Winnette’s 1st List finish, on 24 November 2002 on Sam Fink Peak. Brian Leverich was the photographer.

I like it ‘cause it’s a picture where everyone looks good.
