Jin Oak Chung
Letter from the Chair March 2018

Thanks to everyone who made our Annual Banquet such a success. The list of people to thank is long, as it really takes a village to pull this together, but must start with our Outings chair, Mike Dillenback, who has taken a focused attitude toward improving all of our outings. Along with Aimee Shocket, they not only kept what we always enjoy about our Banquet but also worked diligently to fix problems from the past.

I also want to thank Aimee for recruiting our great speaker, Shawnte Salabert, who gave a wonderful presentation on the Pacific Crest Trail through the seasons. Shante’s sparkling personality shined through her photos and illuminated her presentation. Next, I want to thank the indefatigable Mark S. Allen, who organized the Silent Auction, handled the picking up of the trophies, and took many photos. Speaking of the Silent Auction, thanks again to Aimee for providing some of the Auction’s best items.

Edith Liu provided the certificates (again!), making possible one of the highlights of the Banquet. Jim Fleming (also again) produced the award plaques. Finally, thanks to the volunteers at check-in, including the power couple of Tanya Roton and Mat Kelliher.

The Management Committee is always open to suggestions about how to improve the Banquet, so feel free to contact any of us. We are also looking for a speaker for 2019, so if you have any ideas, let one of us know.

Our next event is the Spring Fling, which will take place at Hurkey Creek Campground, in Mountain Center, on April 21 through 22. The group sites there have plenty of parking, and there are a variety of great HPS peaks to hike a short drive away. I’m looking forward to knocking a few peaks off on my quest to complete the list by 2019. Please check the HPS outings page for scheduled hikes and join us there. The pot-luck on Saturday night should be great! (And remember, this event is FREE to HPS members in good standing!)

I also wanted to report on the fact that the Management Committee recently voted to establish a new email list for general membership communications. You should start receiving occasional emails from us about HPS-related news. If you don’t want to receive such emails, there will be an option to remove yourself on every email. However, I hope you find them useful and rare enough to stay on the list!

Finally, as always thanks to our hike leaders, the core of the Hundred Peaks Section. Know that I deeply appreciate the time and effort that goes into leading outings to our great peaks.

Happy Trails!

THE NAVIGATION CORNER: MAGNETIC INTERFERENCE

By Bob Myers, LTC Navigation Chair

We all know that compass bearings should not be taken near metal objects such as automobiles. You should also be aware that there are more invisible sources of magnetic interference. A number of recent reports suggest that hikers are being led astray by magnetic interference from their own hiking gear. Many packs have magnets in the straps to affix water bladder tubes. Various protective cases for mobile phones and GPS devices that hikers affix to their packs have magnetic fasteners. In addition, a number of items of clothing are now using magnetic fasteners. These magnetic sources can interfere with your compass.

Mountaineering Scotland recently issued a warning about magnets in clothing. The photograph below shows the impact when a compass is held by a glove with a magnetic fastener. The glove resulted in 120° error in the compass reading.

Image: http://www.myoutdoors.co.uk/gear/gear-news/item/1419-mountaineering-scotland-warns-against-magnets-in-clothing
Compass inference can compromise the functionality of your compass and should be avoided. However, it is important to remember that your compass is only one of the navigation tools available to you. Compass information must be correlated with information gleaned from the topographic map and your field observations. If you let your compass lead you astray, you are not using all of the available clues.

Upcoming Navigation Events

The Stone House at the Mission Creek Preserve – basecamp for our April 21-22, 2018 Navigation Noodle

Our April 21-22, 2018, navigation noodle will be at the Wildlands Conservancy’s Mission Creek Preserve. Located in a transition zone between the Sonoran and Mojave deserts, the Mission Creek Preserve has a rich species composition, with flora and fauna representing both deserts.

Our Beginner Navigation Clinic will be held on May 19, 2018. This is a great opportunity for first-time navigators.

On June 16-17, 2018, we will be at Mt. Pinos. Camping is available for all participants in a group campsite we have reserved at the McGill Campground.

At all of our navigation events, we can work with beginners. No prior navigation experience is required. All are welcome!!!

If you have any questions, contact me at rmmyers@ix.netcom.com.
Rideshare Points
There are no Rideshare Points mentioned in the Outings in this issue of The Lookout.

Note that new HPS outings are added to the online schedule of activities (Campfire Events) all the time, often only a few days prior to when the trip is scheduled to occur. Rideshare Points that may be mentioned in those Outings posted on Campfire Events, as well as most of the Angeles Chapter rideshare points (complete with directions and maps), can be found here:
http://angeles2.sierraclub.org/ltc_ridesharing

Several roads that we frequently use to travel to the trailheads have warnings that headlights must be turned on for daylight use. Penalties for failure to observe this requirement are very expensive. Be Safe!! Don’t get a ticket! Turn on your headlights where required!

LEADER CONTACT INFO
Following is contact information for Leaders who are offering outings in this edition of The Lookout. When signing up for an outing, follow the instructions given in the trip listing to find out about meeting time and location.
Advance Schedule of Hundred Peaks Section Activities
March – June 2018
Mat Kelliher, HPS Outings Chair

The following is a listing of all HPS Outings submitted and posted to the Angeles Chapter online Schedule of Activities as of March 2, 2018. These outings cover the period ranging from March 2 through June 30, 2018. Note that new HPS outings are added to the online schedule of activities (aka “Campfire Events”) all the time, often only a few days prior to when a trip is scheduled, so if you haven’t found what you’re looking for in this edition of The Lookout, be sure to check for newly added outings on the HPS online Schedule of Activities frequently for last minute additions. Follow this link to the HPS OARS site:

http://www.hundredpeaks.org/outings.htm

And if you’re still looking for something other than what’s being offered on any given day with HPS, check out the Angeles Chapter online Schedule of Activities (Campfire Events) for a staggering selection of outings options offered by all of the various Groups, Sections, and Committees of the Angeles Chapter. The Angeles Chapter Schedule of Activities is located here:

http://angeles.sierraclub.org/activities

HPS outings are open to everyone; you don’t need to be a member of either the HPS or the Sierra Club to join us! However, to participate in an outing, you will be required to sign a liability waiver, which you can preview here:

http://angeles.sierraclub.org/sites/angeles.sierraclub.org/files/docs/SignInWaiver.pdf

Unless otherwise indicated, contact the leader of the outing(s) you’d like to join for trip status and details. Leader contact information is included in this edition of The Lookout, as are directions to the rideshare points (if any) referenced herein.

Mar 2 Fri Hundred Peaks
O: Lost Horse Mountain (5,313 ft), Mount Inspiration (5,560 ft+), and Ryan Mountain (5,457 ft) - Join us for a day of hiking in Joshua Tree National Park. We will start by hiking to Lost Horse peak by road for about 2 miles until we see the Lost Horse peak. We will then make a left turn and hike up a ridge for about 0.15 miles to the peak. It is just under 5 miles round trip with a gain of 900 feet. Next, we will hike to Mount Inspiration over a well worn use trail for 2 miles round trip with a gain of 700 feet. For Ryan Mountain, our last peak, we will hike 3 miles round trip on trail with a gain of 1,100 feet. Totals for the day are 10 miles with 2,700 feet of gain. All three peaks are Class 1, easy hikes, and we will travel at a slow to moderate pace. We will move our vehicles between trailheads for each peak. Come hike one, two, or all three peaks. Bring hiking footwear, water, lunch, snacks, layers, hat, head lamp. Email Larry Pond for meeting time and location. Leader: LARRY POND, co-leader: JERRY GRENA
Mar 3 – 4
Sat – Sun
Hundred Peaks

I: Quail Mountain (5813 ft +) and Mount Minerva Hoyt (5405 ft) - Join us for an overnight backpack trip in Joshua Tree National Park for a moderately paced, moderate difficulty hike to two HPS peaks and one peakbagger peak 5215. Quail Mountain is the highest peak in the Park. Minerva Hamilton Hoyt was honored for her devotion to preserving the desert flora in JTNP, Death Valley and Anza-Borrego Desert when, in 2013, this peak was named after her by the US Board of Geographic Names. The HPS added the peak to their list shortly thereafter. Our trip begins late Saturday morning, allowing a Saturday morning drive to JTNP, with a short 3 mile 400 foot gain backpack across the Lost Horse Valley to our campsite. On Sunday we will loop hike, with a day pack, through the Joshua Tree Wilderness to collect Mount Minerva Hoyt, Quail Mountain, and peak 5215. After the loop we break camp and return to our cars. Our totals for Sunday will be 8 miles and 2000 feet gain. LEADER: LARRY POND, ASSISTANT LEADER: VIRGINIA SIMPSON

Hundred Peaks

O: Strawberry Peak (6164 ft), Mt. Lawlor (5957 ft) & Barley Flats (5600 ft) - Enjoy a beautiful snow-blanketed scenery as we do a T-hike to the first two peaks, starting from Red Box. We will cover 6 miles rt and 2300 feet of gain on mostly good trail. Afterwards, time and energy permitting, we will drive a little farther up Hwy 2 to the Barley Flats trailhead for a 6 mi rt, 1030 feet gain road hike. Hike-experienced dogs with well-behaved owners welcome. Please bring liquids, lugsoles, layers, lunch and hat. Contact peterdoggett@aol.com for trip details. Hundred Peaks

I: Black Mtn #4 (6149 ft), Chaparrosa Peak (5541 ft) - Join us for a midweek hike to one or both of these peaks in the desert environs west of Yucca Valley. First, we will follow a gentle cross-country traverse of ridgeline and canyon to gain the summit of Black and enjoy lunch as we savor the surrounding views -- marvelous mesas, broad valleys, and distant mountains of the high desert among them. Then, after driving to Pipes Canyon Preserve, we will hike via good trail to Chaparrosa and its own outstanding views: southeast, the Sawtooth Mountains and their superbly jagged ridgeline; southwest, the San Bernardino Mountains and tall alpine forests standing in contrast to the shorter yuccas and plants populating the preserve and echoing the peak name. Doing both hikes will add up to a total of 10 miles round trip with 2700 feet of gain. Hike-experienced dogs with well-behaved owners welcome. High clearance vehicles appreciated. Please bring liquids, lugsoles, layers, lunch and hat. Contact peterdoggett@aol.com for trip details. Leaders: PETER & IGNACIA DOGGETT; JIN OAK CHUNG

Thu
Hundred Peaks

I: Beartrap Bluff (6160 ft) - Join us for a trek to this lovely peak in the Sespe Wilderness. We will follow the beautiful Gene Marshall/Piedra Blanca trail from the Reyes Creek campground, then crossing Beartrap Creek to ascend a steep rocky gully and slabs to the peak for panoramic views. Bring liquids layers lugsoles lunch hat and sunscreen. Stats: 12 miles rt, 3800 feet gain/loss. Heavy rain cancels. Contact leader for meeting time and location. Leader: MIKE DILLENBACK, Co-Leaders: BILL SIMPSON, VIRGINIA SIMPSON, JIM HAGAR, LARRY POND

Mar 10 Sat Hundred Peaks
I: Rosa Point (5083 ft) - Join us for a strenuous, desert hike to Rosa Point within Anza-Borrego State Park and among the stunning Santa Rosa Mountains. The views of the Salton Sea are excellent. We will hike at a slow to moderate pace following Route 1 cross-country on desert terrain. Some sections of the route may be steep and infested with cholla as described on the HPS web site. The hike will be 12 miles round trip with 5500 feet of gain. For more information, contact the leader and provide your recent hiking experience if you are new to hiking with this group. Leader: JERRY GRENNARD, Co-leaders: BILL SIMPSON, VIRGINIA SIMPSON, LARRY POND, JIMMY QUAN, JEFF HENSON

Mar 15 Thu Hundred Peaks
I: Caliente Mountain (5106 ft) - Join us for a strenuous jaunt up to Caliente, the San Luis Obispo county high point, which has the ruins of a World War II lookout tower on top. Route is partly on road and the rest is cross country. May be brushy so wear long pants. Bring lugsoles layers lunch liquids lid and lotions. Rain cancels. Stats: 10 miles rt, 3300 feet total gain including 500 feet on return. Contact leader for meeting time and location. Leader: JIM HAGAR, Co-leaders: BILL SIMPSON, VIRGINIA SIMPSON, MIKE DILLENBACK, LARRY POND, STEPHEN MCDONNELL

Mar 21 Wed Hundred Peaks
I: Eagle Crag (5078 ft) - Join us for a full day in the Cleveland National Forest 13 miles southeast of Temecula. Enjoy the views within the Agua Tibia Wilderness, which is a 17,961-acre protected area in Riverside and San Diego counties. This is a strenuous hike on occasionally steep and loose trail for about 18 miles round trip with around 3500 ft of gain to a peak near Aguanga. Moderate pace. Bring lunch, snacks, beverage, hiking footwear, layers, sunblock and hat. High-clearance vehicle advised. Contact Leader for status and details. Mar 24 – 25 Sat – Sun Desert Peaks, WTC, Hundred Peaks
I: East Ord Mountain (6,168 ft), Brown Peak (4,947 ft) - Come join us as we make our way out to the Shoshone Area for the 23rd DPS Chili Cook-Off with a stop along the way to climb a classic Desert Peak in the Ord Mountains northeast of Lucerne Valley, CA. Saturday morning we will start out nice and early at a moderate pace to ascend the DPS Alternate Route up the SE Ridge of East Ord Mtn to its summit. After enjoying the views up top we will return to our cars the same way we came up for a total for the day of 2.7 RT miles with 2,000 feet of gain. We will then drive from that trailhead to the site of the DPS Chili Cook-Off where we will join in on that celebration with a most festive Happy Hour complete with roaring campfire, chili testing and judging, and all around good times!! We will camp out Saturday night right there at the Cook-Off venue, but be sure to register with Julie Rush (julierush11@gmail.com) or Gloria Miladin (miladingloria@yahoo.com) for the Cook-Off as either a Cook or a Taster to completely maximize your enjoyment. Sunday morning we will get up early and drive into Death Valley via Shoshone to the trailhead for the west side approach to Brown Peak in the Greenwater Range. A strenuous 3 miles with 2,100 feet of gain, that we will do at a moderate pace, will get us up to the summit, where we will eat a little lunch and enjoy the views before heading back down to our cars via the same way we came up. High Clearance, 4WD vehicles are required to get to the trailhead for each summit. Join us for one or both summits. This DPS Outing is co-sponsored by WTC and HPS. Email Mat Kelliher at mkelliher746@gmail.com with contact info, vehicle type and carpool info, recent conditioning, and experience for trip status and details. Leaders: MAT KELLIHER, BILL SIMPSON

I: Granite Mountain #2 (5633 ft) - A strenuous hike on rough trail for 8 miles round trip with 3000 feet of gain. The peak is in the Anza-Borrego Desert State Park near Julian, CA. We will hike at a slow to moderate pace following Route 1 cross-country on desert terrain. High clearance 4WD advised. Suitable only for experienced and conditioned hikers. Contact the leader for more information. Leader: JERRY GRENARD, co-leaders: BILL SIMPSON, VIRGINIA SIMPSON, JIM HAGAR, MIKE DILLENBACK, STEPHEN MCDONNELL

Mar 31  Sat  Hundred Peaks
I: Martinez Mountain (6560 ft+), Sheep Mountain (5141 ft) - Join us for this very strenuous hike in the Santa Rosa Wilderness desert terrain. The Santa Rosa Wilderness is a 72,259-acre wilderness area in Southern California, in the Santa Rosa Mountains of Riverside and San Diego counties. Enjoy views of the surrounding mountains, Palm Desert and the Coachella Valley. Expect around 21 total miles with about 6500 feet of elevation gain. Racing for the Peaks - The HPS Hiking Olympics

By William Chen

Many thanks to Michael McCarty, Mark S. Allen, Peter Doggett, Robert (Bobcat) Thompson, and Joe Young for their important and numerous contributions to this article through their ideas, stories, and information.

On a mid-January day, I looked for a hike in the mountains above Los Angeles. I contemplated an easy adventure to a popular peak - so I set my sights on Smith Mountain in the local San Gabriel Mountains.

The Hundred Peaks Section of the Sierra Club (HPS) maintains a list of 281 peaks in Southern California for hikers to enjoy, and Smith Mountain was a very suitable hike for me since it was on that list. Every time I hike another peak on the HPS list, I get closer to an emblem, the section’s reward for climbing ever more peaks on its list. For the better part of an year and a half now, I’ve been obsessed with getting on top of every little topographical bump in Southern California. Sometimes I wonder if I’m going to like visiting Las Vegas or whether I’m really advancing my career, but most of the time I just think about what month the snow will melt on Mount Pinos so I can stand on top of it.

With my motivation (somewhat) clear, I signed up for a Hundred Peaks Section outing to Smith Mountain. The outing is led by a husband and wife couple from Burbank, Peter and Ignacia Doggett. Peter is a mild-mannered fellow who has finished the HPS list 14 times.

We reached the summit in fair time. Our group started along a paved road, descended to a saddle, before finally going up a steep trail to the top of Smith Mountain. On the way down, I asked Peter about something I had heard of occasionally from my time hiking in Southern California - an event that fascinated me very much.

Peter described the scenes to me. The last HPS Olympics outing began on a cool morning in June 1991, when a band of hardy hikers set out to do the impossible. Meeting in La Canada, they drove over to the San Bernardino Mountains to start their quest. Starting at 10:40am, the clock started ticking down. Mill Peak, Keller Peak, Delamar Mountain, Mount Lewis, Round Top, one-by-one these mighty peaks fell. The group emerged victorious on top of Mount -
Lowe at 10:35am the next day, having bagged 33 peaks in 24 hours, a new record for the HPS Hiking Olympics, never to be beaten again. As the group came down to Eaton Saddle, they were greeted by friends bring treats - and R. Sam Fink, one of the progenitors of the Pacific Crest Trail and a famed founding father of the Hundred Peaks Section.

My interest piqued, I got in contact with Joe Young and Robert “Bobcat” Thompson, who led many of these hikes. Bobcat and Joe provided me histories of the Olympics that they’ve led.

The Hiking Olympics has a heritage of nearly 47 years. Les Stockton (“the Red Baron”) came up with the idea of bagging within 24 hours as many peaks as humanly possible. He and Howland Bailey led an outing to accomplish this superhuman task in May 1971. Among the participants on this epoch hike was Joe Young, still the current HPS historian in 2018. The group bagged 20 peaks, all in the San Gabriel Mountains. The idea lingered on, and attracted the attention of leader Lew Amack, who led a precursor to the HPS Olympics in 1984. While the real Olympics were being held 5,000 feet below, Amack and his fellow hikers Don Tidwell and Lisa Freundlich summited 29 peaks.

Joe Young scheduled the first official edition of the HPS Olympics, and held it on June 21-22, 1986. The day began with a massive group of 25 starting out on top of Keller Peak. The outing ended up being quite the adventure, as the group’s rental van got stuck on top of Little Bear Peak and much of the group ended up having to search for a lost hiker on Delamar Mountain. Several hikers turned out to be unprepared and some even failed to bring water; nonetheless, participants were able to get on top of 20 peaks.

The next year, the Olympics were held again. In June 1987, five hikers, including Joe and Bobcat, bagged 30 peaks, breaking the existing record. The group started on Slide Peak at 10:45am before ending on Deception Peak at 10:23am the next day. To mitigate the problems that were encountered during the previous outing, Joe brought a truck on this hike and limited the excursion to only the most capable hikers. By beating the previous record and outdoing the first Olympics by 10 peaks, this outing was a roaring success.

The event had two more editions and the June 17-18, 1989 event, again led by Joe and Bobcat, resulted in 32 peaks bagged, with the group finishing on Deception Peak. Through some planning, they swapped one of the more difficult peaks with three simpler ones, allowing the group to gain an extra two summits.
Finally in June 1991, the final Olympics were held with 8 participants, setting the current record of 33 peaks in 24 hours.

Typically, the events would begin with breakfast in La Canada, and the group would carpool over to the San Bernardino Mountains, starting at a peak above Big Bear Lake. At the top of the summit, the main leader would record the time, starting a 24-hour countdown. The group would then proceed westward towards and into the San Gabriel Mountains. The peaks bagged would be drive-ups or peaks with less than 4 miles round trip to hike. Typically, dinner would be had at a gas station or other convenient spot in the Hesperia area; this was a longer break, intended for planning, recuperation, and reflection. Finally, with razor-sharp focus, the group would grab as many peaks in the San Gabriels as possible - with a watchful (but tired) eye towards beating the previous record.

The endless driving wore on many participants. But a diverse number of memorable acquaintances were made on these trips as well. Peter Doggett still remembers nearly all the participants on his 1991 hike; among others, there was an easy-going leader, a Scotsman, and an audio engineer for Huell Howser’s California’s Gold program. Certainly at the end of each hike, one must have felt a high degree of solidarity with one’s fellow hiking companions. For 24 hours, they together had heeded the call of the mountains and gave nature its ultimate tribute.

As a necessary part of the event’s objective, the HPS Olympians sought peaks that were simple and took little time to hike. Though they may not have been the tallest mountains, it is those peaks and their little hilly compatriots that are the mountains most common on our dear planet. The HPS Olympics paid homage to them by giving them a tribute they so desperately deserve, but so infrequently get.

I don’t really know what is it about peakbagging that brings me back out to the wilderness to just to tag a couple of little bumps. Perhaps it is just an obsession - a tic that brings me a bit of emotional peace, a way to stay centered in life. Or maybe I’m a goal oriented person - the HPS list is motivation to get myself outside and into nature, so I can see as many beautiful places as I have time for. As John Muir’s famous quote goes: “the mountains are calling and I must go.” Some of us feel the echoing call of the mountains so strongly that there is a feeling of absolute and overwhelming compulsion go to all of them within our finite lifetimes, as futile a goal that may be. In the end, it is not so difficult for me to understand, I think, why someone would want to bag 281 peaks within a few years - or 33 peaks in one day.

Lookout Editor Mark S. Allen went undercover at the Long Beach-South Bay Wilderness Travel Course and heard the lecture on conditioning I give at the first session of the class. He suggested I share a couple of points from my talk in the Lookout Newsletter.

First, a reminder. Whatever exercise you do, recovery is just as important as the exercise itself. If you push yourself hard in order to improve your fitness, that’s great, but gives yourself a day to recover. I’m a runner, and the older I get, the more important recovery is. Whereas I used to do an easy run on my recovery days, I now run hard three days a week and walk on the other days. I do this for three weeks and then have an easy week with far less intense workouts. This system helps me avoid mental burnout, plateauing in my training, injury, and illness. Remember, hard exercise breaks down the muscles; the recovery allows them to grow back stronger.

Whatever you do to stay in shape—running, cycling, swimming, gym classes, boot camps, walking, hiking—you want to have confidence that you are fit enough for a long day of hiking and climbing peaks. You want endurance and aerobic capacity because hiking can be an all-day activity, strength for those big steps and cross-country climbs and for managing a pack on uneven terrain, flexibility again for big steps and going over and under logs, and balance for boulder fields and stream crossings. Being in good shape helps you grind out those long uphill climbs, and knowing you’re ready to tackle those slopes gives the mental determination to keep on going without stopping. Knowing how fit you also lets you know what you can and cannot do well and safely.

TRIBUTE TO MARTIN PARSONS

By Lilly Y. Fukui

Martin bravely fought esophageal cancer to the end. I would like to share some of those courageous words of Martin in 2017:

THE BAD
"Based on my medical history going back nearly two decades, I've survived two 48 week HEP-C chem o treatments. The second one CURED the HPC!" A year later I was diagnosed with liver cancer.

with liver cancer. As horrible as that sounds, it was one of the easiest yet, no pre or post meds, chemo, or radiation! Just cut and run!

A little over a year later I was diagnosed with esophageal cancer. This was much more serious, requiring an aggressive five to six weeks of simultaneous daily radiation (five days a week for a total of 23 days), and weekly chemo, followed by five weeks of rest recuperation and a 13 hour surgery at UCLA. Recovery was equally challenging.

At this point all my doctors were referring me as “SUPERMAN.” This latest diagnosis is a different story. Superman may be overcome with kryptonite! The esophageal cancer metastasized to my peritoneum. It is a rare form of cancer named peritoneal carcinomatosis, essentially terminal, though it can be reduced and managed with ongoing chemo treatments, providing “some quality of life,” and one may hang on for a year or two.

My digestive process has smoothed out. Nurses visited daily but I have been eating more or less normally again but go in for a 48 hour chemo session every other week. This certainly is a challenge, especially to keep positive and keep fighting. There is a dilemma that I refuse to try to process. If this is truly terminal, I would expect to be gradually going downhill. Yet my numbers don’t look bad. I’ve been able to do a couple of hikes approaching what I was doing in terms of mileage, a little less on gain and I am certainly going much slower. The main point is I AM MOVING and feeling incrementally stronger!

THE GOOD

In 2014, the year of my liver surgery, was my most active ever! I did 64 Mt. Baldys to catch up with Edith. We hiked Mt. Baldy over 300 times. We even did a week long SC Mule Pack trip and spent six weeks climbing in the alps of Bavaria, Austria, and Italy! During 2015 I was out half the year with my esophageal issue but I still managed to do 30 Baldys in the first half of the year! My hiking stats for 2016: I did seven plus miles and nearly 3,000’ elevation gain every other day, in the Alps for the entire year. This included another hiking/climbing trip to the Alps.

While the first half of this year (2017) was largely a wash, with the feeding tubes and extremely low energy, I was limited to short easy walks around our Silver Lake Reservoir, and an occasionally easy hike in Griffith Park. I have kicked things up a notch and walking/hiking more and feeling better. Other than that I’ve spent a lot of time catching up on my reading goals.

“Try to squeeze in as much living as I can out of each day as I truly don’t know when my number will come up. Hope all is well with you. - Martin “ Let’s keep Martin’s words in our hearts and do the same:

“SQUEEZE IN AS MUCH LIVING AS YOU CAN OUT OF EACH DAY!”
